

COMM210N : Perspectives in Film

This course explores a body of narrative and or non-narrative films related by virtue of style, director, themes, technology or historical perspective. Analysis of the films allows students to critically consider the role and value of film as part of a participatory culture in a shifting media landscape.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

ENGL101N or ENGL110N.