According to the most recent figures on the National Center for Education Statistics website, the overall graduation rate for full-time, first-time undergraduates was 32%. It is important to note that many students do not attend full-time and take longer than the normal time of 2-3 years. For those students who take longer, the graduation rate is 33%. Also many students do not have the goal of graduating from the College. Students often attend to complete a semester or two before transferring, to explore a potential career area, to resolve academic deficiencies before returning to their original college, or to take courses for self-improvement.

The percentage of students who began in Fall 2018 and either graduated or returned in Fall 2019 was 69% for full-time students and 50% for part-time students.
